CLASS HI

Like sands through the hour glass, so pass the days of our high school lives. As the class of 1982 first crossed that traumatic threshold into Scituate High School, the lives of some 366 freshmen intertwined, causing heartaches, creating celebrations, and cementing lasting friendships. As freshmen, did we ever anticipate the unrelenting drama of these four years? Did we really have "The Winning Combination" as our freshman float committee believed?

As the sophomore world turned, sailor spirit was higher than ever, evident in blue and white day and our landslide victory in the float contest. As mature sophomores, we realized that we had only one life to live and it was our intent to live it to the fullest. Sophomore love affairs were more romantic than ever; complete with a dreamy sunset cruise into the edge of night. Would these moonlight romances last? Would the summer and the fall of 1980 bring hopes for a prom date?

The excitement and confusion of planning for our junior year activities intensified the drama of the class of 1982. We followed the "yellow brick road" during homecoming to our "High Society Junior Variety Show" — a group effort which really proved that "we go together." The finishing touch of our junior year was our prom "We've Got Tonight," an event which brought our closely knit group even closer together. What a highlight for a special year!

STORY '82

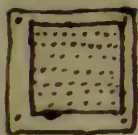

As the world turns, the answer to the cliff-hanging question "What will become of the Class of 1982?" lies in our hopes for all us children as we, the young and the restless, search for tomorrow. Will all our hard work pay off? What of college applications, SAT's, and job interviews?

And with one life to live we will remember all the days of our lives these four years during which we shared many joys and sorrows: a great time at the senior dinner dance, fourth place in the homecoming competitions, the best class day ever, and, of course, our graduation.

But once again we are haunted by the question of what the future holds for each one of us. Only time will tell.

So, tune in tomorrow, as the saga of the Class of 1982 continues its

SENIORS-
PICK UP
CAPS AND GOWNS!

Yeah sure, Roachie!

Peter, you are a little too aggressive.

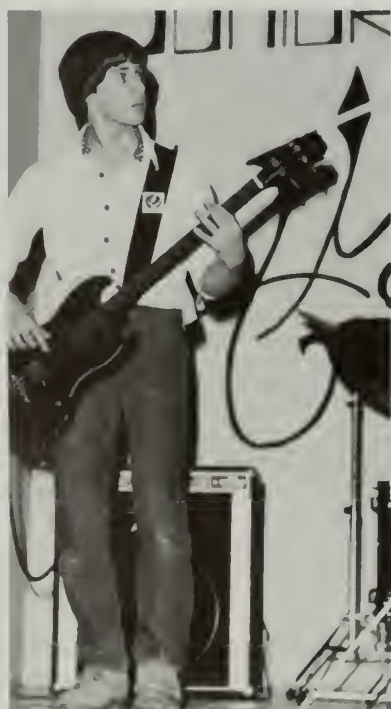

Hey Mr. Cedrone, I understand signum function now!

Now if only I could get back up again.

A star is born! Streisand look out!

6 I wonder if this is how Hendrix started.

Face it Mark, your acting career's over. Go to your room!

Speak up, I can't hear you!

Next time I'd better ease up on the after shave.

Sweet sounds.

And you should see me with makeup!

I think I stepped in something!

Do you think they recognize me?

This is a good place for a stick up!

One more time and maybe it will be funny.

The Preppy-look.

You must think I'm quacked!

One more crack like that and I'll . . .

These atmospheric vibrations are killing my 7 ears.

Me go out with him?

And here's the secretarial pool.

Where are your Calvins?

Don't you dare take me.

Three cheers for us.

We're not shy.

Touch typing is hard.

A Prophet-able run.

The hot seat.

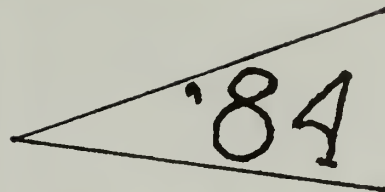

Early dismissal.

Chivalry is dead.

Any where else but here.

Can I be dismissed?

Underwater disco?

You caught me.

SHS fashion show for spring.

What's the next step?

But Reagan believes that ...

That was Rich. He-he-he.

A plucky chick.

I knew it last night.

Agress-ive.

Juniors

Every little thing she does . . .

Can I spit it out now?

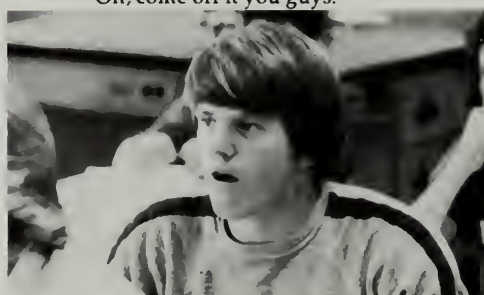

And then we went to this other party . . .

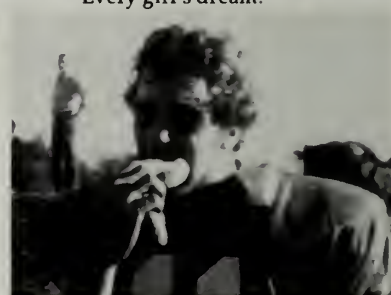

Oh, come off it you guys!

Every girl's dream.

I should have used Freedent.

How's that donut, Jim?

"Golden Boy."

Today's the test??

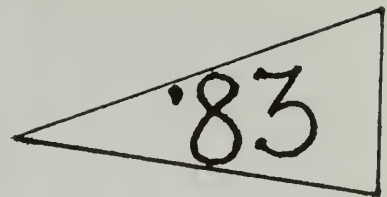

How's it going down there?

Shall I wake Alex now or later?

A toga dance in mid-winter?

Could you explain that again?

I'm not the only one with this sweater?

What a weekend!!!

Dawn breaks over marble head!

We always wanted to be in the Chimes!

A typical SHS bookworm.

Mesmorized!

My most interesting class!

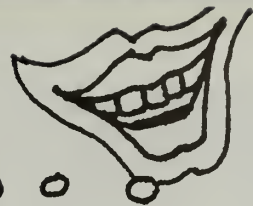

You're kidding.

Cut it out Steve!

We'll remember JHS
with happiness.
And begin a

❖ All My Children

Although the time has passed, we must fight to save its best.

Forget the words of the hateful, keep the virtues of the rest.

We're wiser from the mistakes we've made, our lessons, the last four years.

For these often learned at other's cost, caused bitterness and tears.

Now our chance has finally come, as time fades with each day.

But the friendships we've built are much too strong to ever fade away.

Together we have endured thus far, sharing love and a will to live.

We're set to strive ahead together and take what life will give.

Fear not expectations of others, nor what the future holds.

For the road to success will be measured by the achievement of your goals.

Should this road to dreams become hazy, or easily lead astray,

Look back for a friend, no matter how far,
who will help you find your way.

Though the future brings with it change, a life and friends a new,

We can't discard the past that has gone.

Cherish the memories and old friends too.

GREGORY S. WINSPEER

Greg, The only reason people can laugh behind your back is because you're ahead of them.

LISA ANN YANARELLA

Yana, Don't keep emotions inside. They're hard to face but you must try. Why do you want to run away? That won't get you any further.

J. SCOTT YOUNG

Scooter, A friend in power is a friend lost.

MARTHA ANN YOUNG

Count your memories by smiles, not tears. Count your life by friends, not years. Good luck class of '82! Enjoy life.

GEORGE LOUIS ZERVAS

George, At the end of each day take a look at yourself. Look at the rights and the wrongs, and the next day, when the sun comes up, you will be a wiser person.

This June our fourth and last child will graduate from Scituate High School. The Scituate school system has been responsible for the education of each. We are grateful for the dedicated teaching staff of the Scituate school system. We would like to extend a sincere "THANK YOU" to the very heart and soul of American education — the individual teacher.

A mirror holds but momentary reflections
As do footprints in the sand
Washed away by endless tides.
But, the friendships and laughs that we have shared
Will be imprinted in our hearts
for all eternity.

Our hopes and dreams for tomorrow are not just reflections
in the mirrors of our minds.
They are the goals that we hold true for the Class of '82'.
